

Did you know that First Year Experience is not only for first year students, but First Generations Learners too!

- A First Generation Learner is defined as someone whose parent(s) did not obtain a post-secondary education in Canada. If the student's siblings have attended a post-secondary institution, the student is still considered a First Generation Learner.

- First Generation Learners may be in their 1st, 2nd, 3rd, or 4th year of study

First Year Experience Services is here to assist you, any way we can, as you pursue your studies.

First Year Experience Student Advisors are looking forward to meeting with you!
